Stand with Kingdom Kare: Ensuring Stability for Our Families

As Kingdom Kare continues its mission of serving children, families, and our community, we reflect on the foundation of our work and the lives we have touched. Our commitment to providing essential services—quality early childhood education, family support, and community resources—remains unwavering. However, critical funding that sustains these programs is now at risk.

Today, the new administration ordered a temporary pause on all activities related to recent executive orders, impacting federal funds that support organizations like ours. While Kingdom Kare remains a fiscally responsible and mission-driven organization, many of our programs depend on federal, state, and local funding to serve those in need.

The full impact of this federal funding pause remains uncertain, but we do know one thing: it puts vulnerable children and families at risk. Over the years, Kingdom Kare has been fortunate to receive funding that has allowed us to implement and expand nationally recognized programs, providing free pre-K, support for military families, and resources for teen mothers. Without these funds, many of the families we serve could face new challenges in accessing the education, childcare, and stability they rely on.

These funds help us:

- ✓ Educate and nurture young children in our early learning programs
- ✓ Support teen mothers as they pursue their education and careers
- ✓ Assist families with resources that promote stability and self-sufficiency

While Washington navigates its process, we refuse to stand by and watch our families struggle. Kingdom Kare is built on a foundation of faith, community, and action, and we believe that together, we can bridge this gap.

We need your support now more than ever. Your generosity ensures that every child continues to learn, every mother continues to grow, and every family continues to thrive.

*Will you stand with us? Your financial support today will make a lasting impact on the lives of those who need it most.
